4 Bedrooms | 2.5 Bathrooms | 4,289 Sqft

Some homes are built. Others are designed. Tucked quietly on the cul-de sac of North Star Ct., this 4,289 sq ft (per courthouse) mid-century modern masterpiece by Thomas McCrory isn't trying to compete with the ordinary; it was created to stand apart. With 4 bedrooms and 2.5 baths, this home offers the space you need without sacrificing the clean lines and intentional design that define true mid-century architecture. Vaulted ceilings, expansive windows, and the natural flow between living spaces create an atmosphere that feels both grounded and elevated; exactly what this style was meant to do. The heart of the home invites gathering. Whether you're hosting friends or enjoying a quiet evening in, the layout gives you room to breathe, room to connect, and room to live well. Step outside onto the large rear deck; your private extension of the living space. Morning coffee under the trees. Evenings that stretch long past sunset. The kind of outdoor space that makes you want to stay home. This isn't a reproduction or a remodel trying to imitate the era. This is the real thing, a Thomas McCrory design with the square footage and presence rarely found in mid-century homes. If you've been waiting for something architectural, something substantial, something that doesn't look like everything else on the market, this is your moment.
